North Peru Tours

TOUR SUMMARY

Köslachek Tours Group of Twelve (KTG-12) is designed for a very exclusive group of travelers.

Köslachek Private Tours invites you to discover the Peruvian North, where you can visit pre-Hispanic and modern cities, as well as picturesque little towns where the past and present converge into the future.

Our tour takes you to six cities in three regions: Trujillo, Chepén, Cajamarca, San Pablo, Lambayeque, and Chiclayo in La Libertad, Cajamarca and Lambayeque regions respectively.

Exclusive Small Groups

Experience the magic of Peru in an intimate and personalized way with our exclusive package designed for small groups.

Group Size

We want to ensure that each participant enjoys the tour to the fullest, so we have set a strict limit of twelve (12) participants per group.

CANCELLATION & POSTPONEMENT

Before reviewing the cancellation calendar, it's important to understand the difference between cancelling and postponing a tour, as well as who may initiate each.

Cancellation vs Postponement

- Cancellation means you are choosing to completely withdraw from the tour. This ends your reservation and is subject to the cancellation fees listed below.
- Postponement means you are requesting to reschedule your tour for a later date. This is a change to your original booking, not a termination.

Who Can Cancel or Postpone?

When a tour is postponed—whether by the client or the company—the original payment is not refunded but is retained and fully applied toward the rescheduled tour. This ensures your funds are preserved and allocated for your future travel experience, and helps us maintain fair pricing and logistics for upcoming departures.

Client-Initiated Cancellation

If you decide to cancel for personal reasons (e.g., illness, change of plans, flight delays, or financial difficulties), the cancellation calendar below applies.

Client-Initiated Postponement

You may request a new date for your tour. We will do our best to accommodate based on availability. No fees apply if the change is made well in advance—at least 90 days, but this is not guaranteed. Postponements must be rescheduled to a new date that occurs within 24 months of the original tour date. After this period, the credit may expire unless an exception is approved in writing. Please note that pricing adjustments may apply if the tour is rescheduled after the original date, due to potential increases in operational costs or supplier fees.

Company-Initiated Cancellation

In rare and exceptional circumstances — such as extreme weather events, natural disasters, or sudden regional instability — we may need to cancel your tour. As we offer private tours even for one or two travelers, minimum group size is not a factor in cancellation decisions.

If Koslachek Tours Must Cancel, You Will be Offered

- A partial refund, processed in monthly installments over a 6-month period; or
- The option to transfer the full amount to a future tour within 18 months of the original departure date, at no additional cost.

Company-Initiated Postponement

If we are forced to reschedule for logistical or safety reasons, we will notify you as early as possible and work with you to find a suitable new date. The funds paid will be applied to your future tour, and the same 24-month time frame applies. Please note that pricing adjustments may apply if the tour is rescheduled more than 12 months after the original date, due to potential increases in operational costs or supplier fees.

In any case of postponement, we recommend initiating the conversation as early as possible so we can offer the most flexible options. While we will always strive to accommodate your needs, please understand that date changes are not guaranteed and may depend on guide availability, accommodation logistics, and seasonal factors.

Postponements & Tour Credits

If you are unable to travel as originally scheduled, you may be eligible to postpone your trip and receive credit toward a future tour. Credits are valid for 24 months from the original departure date and must be used to rebook a comparable tour. Once any portion of a travel credit is applied toward a new booking — even if the trip is later canceled or not completed — the remaining credit becomes non-refundable and can only be used toward rescheduling future tours.

We understand that plans can change, which is why we aim to offer as much flexibility as possible. However, certain vendors (e.g., lodges, small local operators) require early commitments and non-refundable deposits.

Important: If no communication or new tour selection is made within 90 days of postponement, Koslachek Tours reserves the right to reduce or forfeit the travel credit, depending on vendor costs, time elapsed, and administrative expenses.

Cancellation Calendar

If you need to cancel your private tour, the following processing fees apply based on how many days before the scheduled departure you notify us:

Notice Given Before Departure	Cancellation Fee / Penalty
120–90 days	30% of the total reservation fee
89–60 days	40% of the total reservation fee
59–30 days	60% of the total reservation fee
29– days or less	No refund (100% of the fee is retained)

Please Note

- All cancellations and postponements must be submitted in writing (email or contact form).
- Refunds (if applicable) are processed within 6 months, in monthly installments regardless of the original payment frequency, to ensure consistency and responsible financial management. Refund installments will be issued every 30–35 days from the date the cancellation is approved.
- Refunds are processed via the same method used for payment (e.g., credit card, PayPal, bank transfer).
- Refunds are subject to internal review and only offered if no portion of the tour credit or service has been used. Some bookings may be non-refundable due to third-party vendor terms.
- Separate terms apply for postponements or rescheduling, which are treated as changes to the original booking rather than cancellations. These may be allowed without a fee depending on availability and advance notice. If you're unsure whether your request qualifies as a postponement or cancellation, we recommend submitting it in writing and contacting us for clarification.
- In the event of force majeure (e.g., natural disasters, border closures), Koslachek Tours will make reasonable efforts to offer rescheduling or credit, but refunds may not be available.

- Any currency conversion differences or transaction fees during refunds are the responsibility of the client.
- If a postponement credit is used to reschedule a tour, no refund will be issued even if the trip is not completed.
- No partial refunds will be issued for unused portions of a tour or services once travel has commenced (e.g., early departures, skipped activities, etc.).

Important Terms Regarding Postponements

To avoid misunderstandings and ensure smooth operations, the following conditions apply to any request to postpone a private tour:

1. Postponement Requests Must Be Officially Confirmed

A client's request to postpone a tour is not automatically accepted or guaranteed. It must be formally reviewed and confirmed in writing by the company.

Until this written confirmation is provided:

- The booking remains active.
- All original cancellation policies continue to apply.
- Discussions, mentions, or intentions to postpone are not binding and do not pause or override the cancellation terms. This ensures clarity and avoids confusion or assumptions on either side.

2. Postponement Is a One-Time Option

Each confirmed tour may be postponed only once.

This avoids open-ended rescheduling and ensures our team can plan accordingly. Clients should only request postponement when they have a high level of certainty they'll be able to reschedule the trip.

3. Postponement Cannot Be Later Changed Into a Cancellation

Once a postponement is approved and confirmed, it is treated as a firm commitment to take the tour at a later date. Clients may not retroactively cancel the trip and request partial or full refunds after a postponement has been granted.

This helps avoid situations where a client initially postpones, only to later request a refund — putting the company in a difficult position with committed funds.

4. No Refunds Will Be Issued After Postponement Confirmation

Once a postponement is confirmed in writing, all funds paid will be held as a credit and applied toward the future trip. This credit is non-refundable and will not be converted into partial or full cash reimbursement under any circumstances.

5. Timeline for Rescheduling After Postponement

Clients Must Propose New Dates Within 60 Days: When a postponement is confirmed, the client must propose new travel dates within 60 days of receiving the confirmation.

- These proposed dates don't need to be exact, but must fall within a general timeframe (e.g., "March 2026" or "Spring 2026").
- If no new dates or timeframe are proposed within those 60 days, the company reserves the right to treat the booking as canceled under the original cancellation policy.
- The credit from the postponed tour will remain valid for up to 24 months from the original tour date — but price adjustments may apply if rates increase in the future. Failure to propose dates within 60 days may result in a forfeiture of the postponement privilege or require reevaluation under new pricing or availability conditions.

6. Postponement Credit is Valid for 24 Months (Subject to Fee Adjustments)

Postponed trips must take place within 24 months of the original tour date.

We will honor the credit amount paid toward the postponed trip, but final pricing will depend on future rates, supplier costs, and seasonal availability.

If Koslachek Tours initiates the postponement and the trip is rebooked within 12 months, we will make every effort to honor the original pricing. However, if rebooking occurs after 12 months, price changes may apply due to increased costs from third-party providers (e.g., hotels, transportation, and activities). We encourage clients to stay in communication with us and keep track of these deadlines to ensure the best experience and maximum flexibility.

Postponement Policy

Guests may postpone their tour once for any reason with no penalty, provided the request is made at least 90 days prior to the original tour start date. Credit will be valid for two years from the original date. Additional postponement requests will only be considered in extreme cases and may be subject to administrative or vendor-related fees.

Refund Policy for Cancellations

In the event a cancellation is approved instead of a postponement, Koslachek Tours may, at its discretion, offer a refund.

- Even if a client made fewer payments (e.g., paid in full or in 2 or 3 installments), refunds will still be returned in 6 monthly installments, spaced approximately one month apart. This ensures consistency in our processing and allows us to responsibly manage cash flow related to tour logistics and vendor commitments.
- Refunds will be processed using the same payment method (e.g., credit card, PayPal, bank transfer) used for the original payment.
- The company will share a proposed refund schedule at the time of cancellation confirmation.
- Refunds are only available when no portion of the tour credit has been used and cancellation is approved based on internal review.
- By booking with Koslachek Tours, clients agree to abide by these cancellation and refund terms. Attempting to circumvent them through third-party chargebacks or payment reversals may be considered a breach of policy and could result in forfeiture of travel credit.

Please note that our refund approach aligns with common practices in the travel industry, where companies generally process refunds in installments for multi-payment purchases to ensure consistency, transparency, and financial feasibility for small-group operations.

Australians, Americans, British, Canadians, most Europeans and New Zealanders do not currently require a visa for Peru. For all other nationalities, please reconfirm your visa requirements with us or your embassy.

Vaccination Certificate

International travel often requires a yellow fever vaccination certificate at border crossings. Your country of origin might also request this certificate upon return.

Luggage

Please carry your luggage; it won't require extended walking (maximum 30 minutes). A backpack or shoulder strap duffel bag is suggested for light travel. Smaller wheeled bags are convenient but ensure they have carrying straps. Bring a medium-sized bag for day trips and consider using a lock for security.

Check-in

We pre-book hotel rooms for smooth arrivals, especially if arriving before standard check-in times. If immediate check-in isn't possible, we provide luggage storage for you until your room is available.

Travelers

During the group tour, respect fellow travelers' diverse age ranges, needs, and preferences. Patience and tolerance are key for a pleasant journey. Timeliness is appreciated to ensure the itinerary runs smoothly without delays.

Travel Money

The official currency in Peru is the Peruvian Nuevo Sol. Ensure you have small bills, as Peruvian banks might reject US$100 bills with CB or BE serial numbers, as well as old, torn bills with numerous stamps. It's recommended not to accept these bills.

ATMs are widely available, though fees may apply. Verify with your bank if your card is accepted in Peru and inform them about your travel plans to avoid card cancellation due to suspected fraud.

Withdrawal limits may vary, ranging from US$200 to $900 per day, depending on your bank or the ATM. To prevent fraud, consider using ATMs inside banks or shops during business hours.

Holidays & Inconveniences

Museums and churches are closed to tourists on public holidays such as Christmas Day and New Year's Day. In Latin America, many museums are also closed on Mondays. However, there are still opportunities for enjoyment on Mondays.

Special Diet Requirements

Special meal requests should be mentioned in your reservation or during the initial meeting with our tour leader. Pace your meals in the initial days, as local food can be highly seasoned or spicy. Avoid eating at street establishments.

Cultural Shock

You will be exposed to signs of poverty and access to certain services may be sporadic. The food will be quite different from home. Respecting the local culture will make it easier to fit in.

Peru's Weather Overview

Coastal Region (e.g., Lima): Mild climate with minimal rainfall. Warm and humid summers (December to March) and cooler, overcast winters (June to September) due to 'garúa' mist.

Andean Region (e.g., Cusco, Puno): Variable temperatures, sunny days, cold nights (especially at higher altitudes). Rainy season spans November to March.

Amazon Rainforest (e.g., Iquitos, Puerto Maldonado): Hot, humid tropical climate. Significant rainfall year-round, especially from December to May.

Northern Peru's Weather

During the first week of July, the weather is very pleasant to visit and explore all type of locations within Northern Peru:

Trujillo, Chepén, and Chiclayo: Experience similar weather patterns with mild temperatures around 60-75°F (15-24°C) and minimal rainfall

Cajamarca and San Pablo: Both situated in the Andean highlands, share cooler temperatures averaging around 50-65°F (10-18°C) during the day, with colder nights. Generally dry and sunny.

During the first week of July, these regions showcase similar weather conditions within each group, which might make it convenient to plan visits to multiple locations in each group due to their analogous climates.

Health Information

Physical Health Requirement: All travelers must be in good physical health to actively participate in this journey. Please be aware that if, according to our representative's assessment, any traveler is unable to complete the itinerary without posing risks to themselves or the group, we reserve the right to exclude them from part or all of the trip without refund.

Medical Consultation and Preparation: It is advisable to consult your physician for current travel medical advice, required vaccinations, and malaria prevention prior to departure.

We strongly recommend carrying a first aid kit and any necessary personal medical supplies.

Medication Policy: For legal reasons, our guides are unable to administer any form of medication.
